Introduction

In the process of collecting documentary sources for the history of the twentieth century, the Hoover Institution also acquired source materials which lend themselves to the study of the Holocaust.

The present list represents a selection of the more important documentation which has been culled from the Hoover Institution Archives. The formal entries describing the materials are from the AMC (Archives and Manuscripts Control) file of RLIN (Research Libraries Information Network). [RLIN is now part of the WorldCat bibliographic database.] The annotations stress the particular components relevant to the study of the Holocaust. These materials are often embedded in larger collections such as the records of the International Military Tribunal, Nuremberg, or the collection of photoblowups from the political archives of the German Foreign Office (Germany. Auswärtiges Amt.) and their existence is not immediately apparent. Earlier antisemitic materials have also been included because they furnish a rich background of mood and attitude (German Subject collection and the Rudolf Franz Collection). Special attention should be drawn to the Claremont Graduate School Oral History Programs transcripts which describe conditions for Jewish refugees in Finland during World War II. Of great interest also is the Rene de Chambrun collection dealing with Vichy attitudes and policies toward both immigrant and French Jews. The files of the United Restitution Organization also deserve special mention since a great deal of source material on wartime conditions is hidden in the organization’s "Rundschreiben."

The extensive collections of printed and published material at the Hoover Institution Library have not been included since they can be located relatively easily through the card catalog under the appropriate subject headings.

A great deal of valuable primary documentation is also buried in the microfilms of the "Captured German Documents" of which the Hoover Institution Library holds a substantial selection. These materials are fully cataloged and can also be found through the appropriate subject headings. Further detailed guidance to these microfilms is provided by the finding aids issued by the U.S. National Archives.

The suggestion to have this list prepared was first made by Dr. Livia Rothkirchen of Yad Vashem. I am grateful to Charles Palm and his staff at the Hoover Institution Archives for the help they have given me.

The original records of the German Foreign Ministry are located in Bonn, West Germany, in the Political Archive of the Foreign Ministry (Das Politische Archiv des Auswärtigen Amtes). A microfilm copy of nearly complete set was made in England at Whaddon Hall. The serial numbers from this microfilming project are still used to identify the material. Users of this collection should first consult the published guide compiled and edited by George O. Kent, A Catalog of Files and Microfilms of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945 (Hoover Institution Press, 1969-1972), 4 volumes. This work identified the serial numbers and also provides the microfilm roll numbers for the files. A complete set of the microfilm is available at the U.S. National Archives, Washington, D.C., and copies may be purchased from this source. The Hoover Institution Library has selected reels of the microfilm in the T-120 series which were acquired from the set at the National Archives. The collection in the Hoover Institution Archives consists of selected photographic enlargements from the microfilm. These photo blow-ups were used by the American editors of the series Documents on German Foreign Policy, published by the U.S. Government Printing Office. The photo blow-ups relate to the published documents in this series and amplify them but are not identical with them. The individual serial numbers are not complete, but offer a good research working copy. The following serial numbers deal with the Jewish question: 1125, 1495, 1512, 1881 (Judenfrage Ungarn, 1938-39), 1947, 2244, 2385 (Judenfrage Polen, 1936-1940), 2462, 2470, 2599, 2613, 2648, 2959, 2964, 3928, 7025, 7051. According to the scheme of the Politische Archiv the following serial numbers deal with Palestine: 72, 90, 1495, 1520, 1525, 1526, 1541, 1542, 1554, 2150, 4513, 7052.
