OER Evaluation Checklist

*Note: This resource was reused and adapted from Kirkwood Community College Library’s guide on open textbooks. It was developed by Sarah Crissinger, Information Literacy Graduate Assistant. This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 4.0 International License.

You’ve found an OER. Congrats! Now you should go through a quick evaluation process to determine whether it’s right for your purposes. Research the following in your evaluation process. Also keep track of what might need to be improved so you can enhance the OER for your own purposes.

Quality

☑ Peer Review available or used
☑ Reputation of author/ institution is transparent
☑ Pedagogical methods are sound
☑ Allows for customization or refinement

Appropriateness

☑ Content is accurate
☑ Sources are identified and cited
☑ Some alignment with a learning outcome or course objective
☑ Appropriate reading/ domain level for your students

Technical

☑ High technical quality (clear visuals, high production value)
☑ Clear licensing declaration (Creative Commons License present, in the Public Domain, etc.)
☑ License to remix or share again